SENIOR ARCHITECT (m/f/d)
Baumschlager Eberle Architekten, an internationally renowned architectural practice, is seeking a Senior Architect to join its Florence office.

With extensive experience in architectural design and an international presence, Baumschlager Eberle develops projects distinguished by high architectural quality, a responsible approach to sustainability, and particular attention to the relationship between form, function, and construction. The successful candidate will take on a key role in the management and coordination of complex architectural projects in Italy and abroad, ensuring design quality, effective project management, and the integration of multidisciplinary expertise.

Your Profile

- Master's degree in Architecture; professional qualification and registration with the Italian Architects' Association are considered an advantage.
- At least 7–10 years of professional experience, preferably gained in established architectural practices with an international background.
- Proven experience in managing and coordinating complex architectural projects, including direct responsibility for project planning, multidisciplinary team coordination, and the management of schedules, quality standards, and deliverables.
- In-depth knowledge of Italian technical, administrative, and permitting procedures, including urban planning and building regulations, as well as project approval processes in both the public and private sectors.
- Solid experience across all design phases, from concept development to detailed and construction design, with an understanding of procurement procedures and construction processes.
- Strong architectural sensitivity, excellent conceptual and design skills, and comprehensive technical and construction knowledge.
- Experience across different building typologies, particularly residential, office, public, and mixed-use developments.
- Excellent proficiency in ArchiCAD, BIM processes, and Adobe Creative Cloud. Recognised BIM certifications are considered a plus.
- Excellent written and spoken Italian and English. Knowledge of German is considered a plus.
- Strong organisational and decision-making skills, leadership abilities, a proactive approach to problem-solving, and excellent interpersonal skills.

Your Responsibilities

- Take responsibility for the operational management and coordination of complex architectural projects, from project planning through the supervision of the various design phases.
- Coordinate internal teams, specialist designers, and external consultants, ensuring effective multidisciplinary integration and compliance with quality, budget, and schedule requirements.
- Manage design development and permitting processes, liaising with clients, public authorities, and other stakeholders involved in project approvals.
- Ensure architectural quality and technical consistency by supervising the preparation of design documentation, BIM models, and technical deliverables.
- Collaborate with Baumschlager Eberle Architekten's international offices and contribute to architectural competitions and public tender procedures.
